WHO IS MUSTAFA KEMAL ATATÜRK "THE FATHER OF TURKS"?

Mustafa Kemal Atatürk was the founder, military leader, and first president of the modern Republic of Turkey.

Starting the national independence movement in May 1919, he led to the abolition of the Ottoman Sultanate in 1922 and the establishment of a secular republic in 1923.

To modernize the nation, Atatürk implemented sweeping structural reforms: Political & Legal: Established a secular state system that separated religion from law, governance, and education, ensuring public institutions remained free from religious dogma.

Social & Women's Rights: Abolished class privileges to promote populism and significantly advanced female empowerment, granting women full voting rights in 1934.

Education & Culture: Made primary education compulsory and replaced the Arabic script with the Latin alphabet in 1928 to modernize the Turkish language.

Economic Development: Spearheaded state-led economic initiatives focusing on agricultural expansion, industrialization, and technological growth.

The Turkish parliament granted him the surname "Atatürk" (Father of Turks) in recognition of his service. Passing away on November 10, 1938, he is remembered as the visionary reformist who built modern Turkey.
